Product description

As well as the wall top seats in our range, we also produce bespoke wall top seats. There are many ways to design the wall top seats.

Extra information

Combining seating with greenery

To make the built environment greener and prevent heat stress, raised planting beds or tree pits are being used more and more frequently. It is often pleasant to sit under a tree or near greenery. By installing wall top seats on concrete, natural stone or brick partitions, it is easy to create seating areas next to this greenery.

Partitions with wall top seats

Sometimes there are places in public spaces where both a partition and a seating area are desirable. Space constraints may not always allow for the installation of a separate outdoor bench. In such cases, a wall top seat can be an excellent solution.

Upgrading existing features

When upgrading existing features in public spaces, a wall top seat can also enhance the appearance of the surroundings and help to create a pleasant place to spend time.
