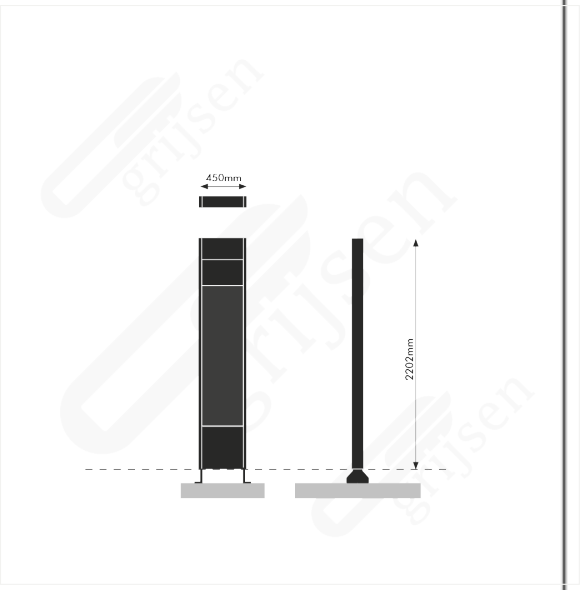
Series: Informatiezuilen



Product description

The information pillar Steel pillar I is, as the name suggests, a steel information pillar. The pillar consists of a steel frame with steel panels. The pillar has a sleek design, thanks to its rectangular shape. On the panels of the pillar there is room for an elongated information board.

Information pillars serve as information disseminators for various environments. Clear information in outdoor spaces contributes to order, peace and security and puts people at ease. Our information pillars are suitable for all kinds of applications and diverse environments: from companies to government institutions and from parks to squares.
